Option within the B.S. Agricultural Education

Proposed new B.S. Agricultural and Life Sciences with a major in Agricultural Science, Communication, and Leadership

Discussion: The committee was very supportive of the combination of AST and AIMC into a new major in Agricultural Science, Communication, and Leadership in the B.S. in Ag. & Life Sciences.

The main concern of the committee was the ability to offer courses through distance education to students enrolling in the new B.S. degree program at the U of I Twin Falls campus. The AST degree that is being eliminated is the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences' off-campus degree offered to students in southern Idaho.

Discussion:

UCC-09-095, 09-096, 09-097, 09-098, & 09-106 College of Agricultural and Life Sciences

Following an extensive discussion concerning all of these NOIs the committee voted to consider items UCC-09-095, 09-096, 09-097, 09-098, & 09-106 together as one single motion.

The committee first reviewed the proposed Notice of Intent (NOI) (UCC-09-096) from the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences to discontinue the Bachelor of Science in Agricultural Education (B.S.Ag.Ed.) major in Agricultural Education Agricultural Industry Management and Communication Option. The committee approved the proposed NOI 12 for and 0 against.

The committee then reviewed the proposed Notice of Intent (NOI) (UCC-09-097) from the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences to discontinue the Bachelor of Science in Agroecology, Horticulture and Environmental Quality degree (B.S.Agroecol.Hort.Envir.) and its associated options. Committee member Wells asked about the statement that indicated the department felt that enrollments would drop with the proposed name change (see UCC-09-095). Bob Zemetra noted that the change is not by choice. Committee member Krogh asked if this series of changes was nothing more than one-to-one name changes. Ding Johnson noted that these changes were completed in haste to meet the proposed timelines. Zemetra highlighted the frequency of name changes for the plant, soil and entomological sciences majors has hurt their ability to market their majors. Committee member Secrist asked if these changes would strength the agriculture program or diminish them. Zemetra indicated he felt it would do both for PSES. Better names for their major would aid in marketing, but the lack of specific degrees would hurt some. Jim Connors indicated that he felt the change would strength the program due to the inclusion of the leadership components. The committee approved the motion to defer vote of UCC-09-097 until UCC-09-095 has been considered (no formal vote count recorded).

The committee then reviewed the proposed Notice of Intent (NOI) (UCC-09-095) from the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences to create the Bachelor of Science in Agricultural and Life Sciences degree (B.S.Ag.L.S.) and the majors of: Agricultural Science, Communication and Leadership; Agricultural Systems Management; and Sustainable Crop and Landscape Systems with emphases in: Insects and Society; Soil and Water Resources; Sustainable Cropping Systems; Environmental Horticulture; and Plant Biotechnology. Committee member Wells asked if this new degree would save money or cost money. The committee noted that the enrollment data combined the enrollments from all programs being dropping that are being subsumed into this proposed degree. Committee chair Dacey asked why the vote of 1 approve, 1 deny and 5 abstentions from the college curriculum committee (APAC) on this NOI. Andrew Brewick reviewed APAC's vote and provides some of the comments to the committee from Dean Hammel. Dacey asked what positions were not being filled that provided the savings listed on the NOI. Ding Johnson indicated that the positions not being filled were: Plant Pathology and Undergraduate Horticulture. Bob Zemetra provided insight on why the emphases were divided up as they have been. Zemetra also commented that it is the department's hope that the new names will be more attractive to students and will aid in marketing. Johnson and Brewick explained that the college intends to develop a Core Discovery course aimed primarily at agricultural students and would encourage their students to take it. Dacey asked if there was really only 4 agricultural courses that is being required of all 3 majors under the B.S.Ag.L.S. Zemetra noted that all the programs coming together on this degree are radically different from each other and finding a common set of courses between them all is challenging especially given the short time span this all had to be accomplished in. Committee members Holbrook and Zwainz noted their opposition to this proposed NOI. The committee discussed tabling NOIs 09-095, 09-096, 09-097, 09-098, & 09-106 until more of their questions could be answered by the departments involved in this new program. Johnson noted that modifying courses to better fit into a common core will take time to accomplish. Johnson further added that it is his feeling that the new names are an improvement and will aid in marketing. Committee member Eckwright asked how the department would market this major. Zemetra provides some ideas on how the department might approach that. Committee member Hill asked if the department had considered more coordination with Washington State University (WSU). Johnson and Zemetra indicated that the department is currently working with WSU to create a greater level of cooperation between the two institutions.

The committee approved a motion to reconsider UCC-09-096 12 for and 0 against.

The committee denied a motion to defer items UCC-09-095, 09-096, 09-097, 09-098, & 09-106 until next meeting 4 for and 7 against with 1 abstention.

The committee approved the motion to consider items UCC-09-095, 09-096, 09-097, 09-098, & 09-106 together 12 for and 0 against.

The committee Denied the proposed NOIs 0 for and 10 against with 2 abstentions, and will forward the proposed NOIs to Faculty Council for review.
